Frosh:

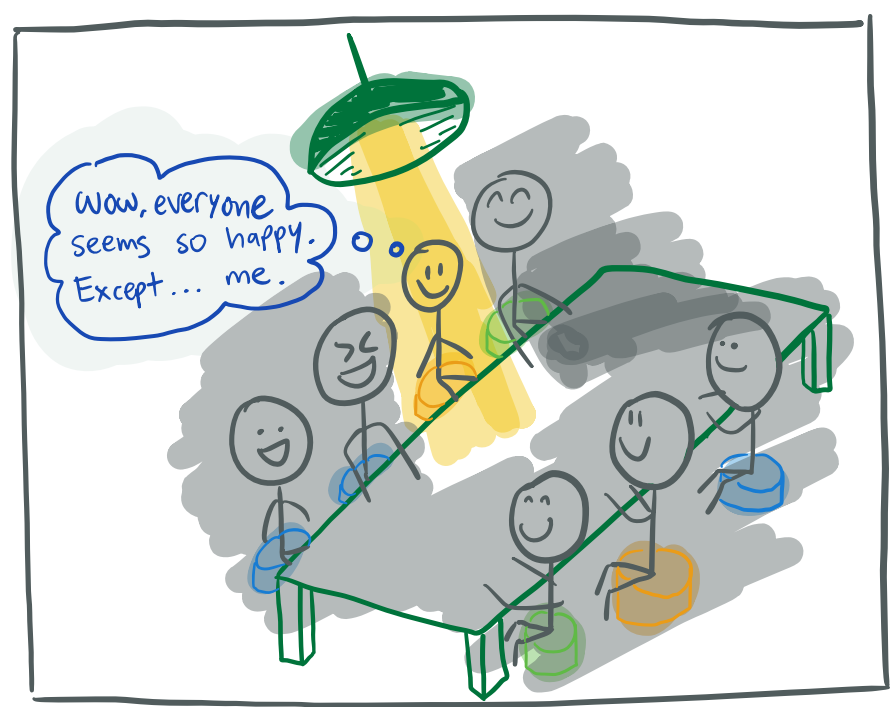

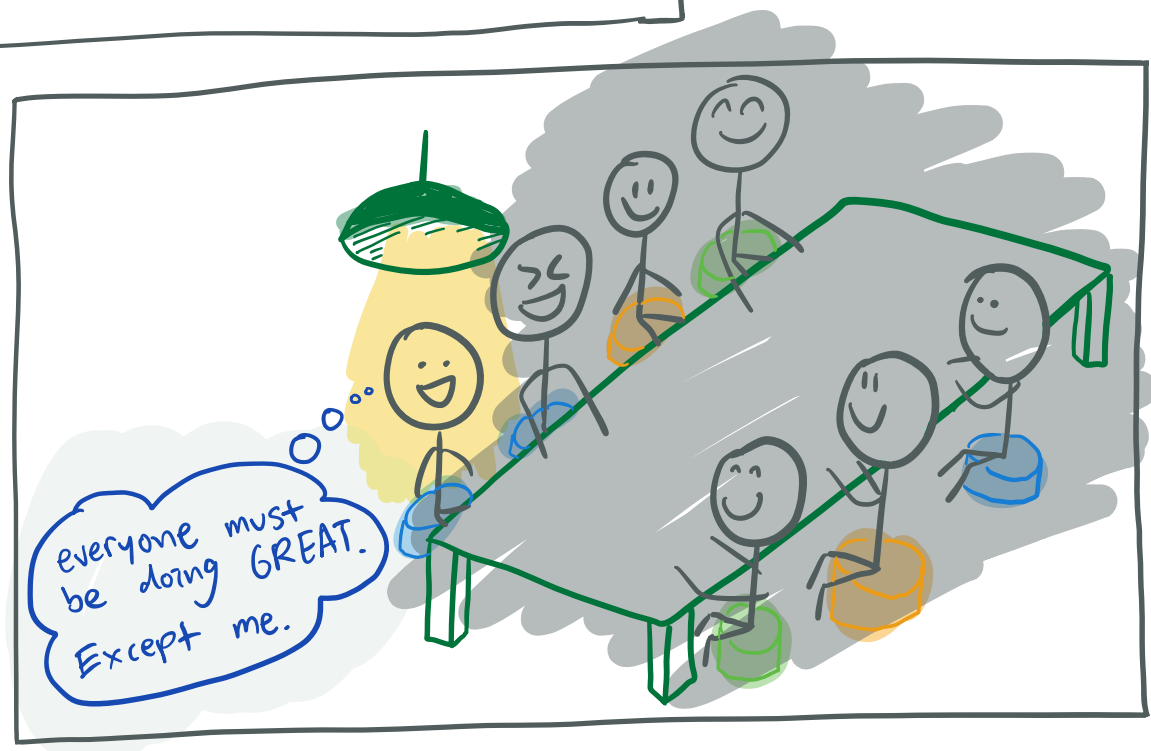

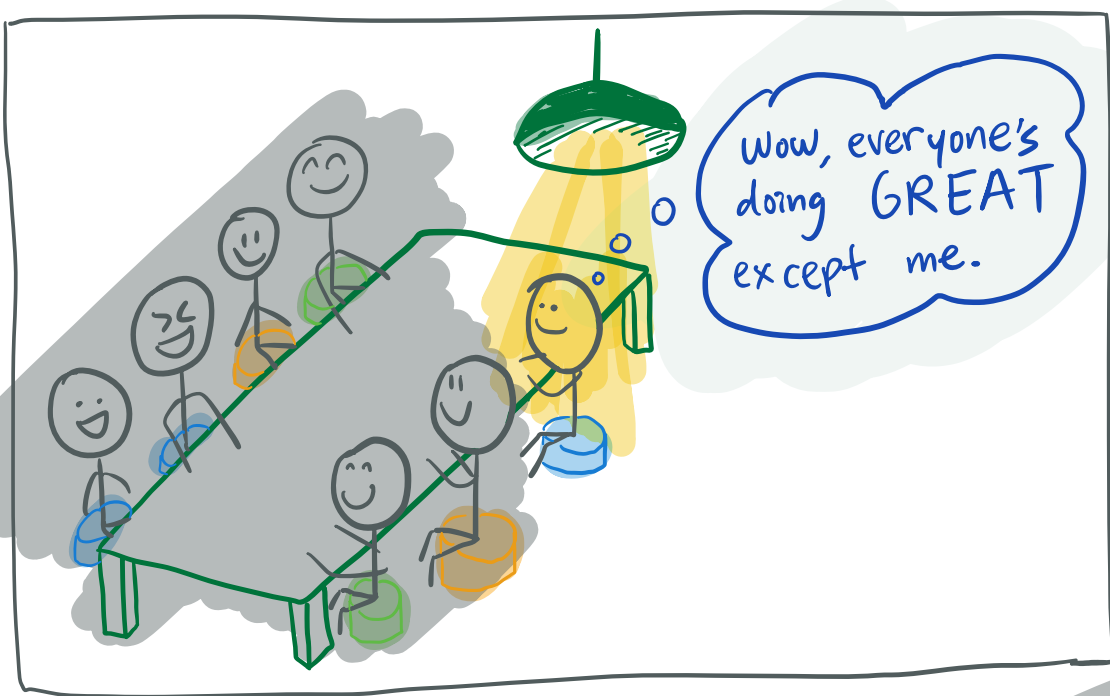

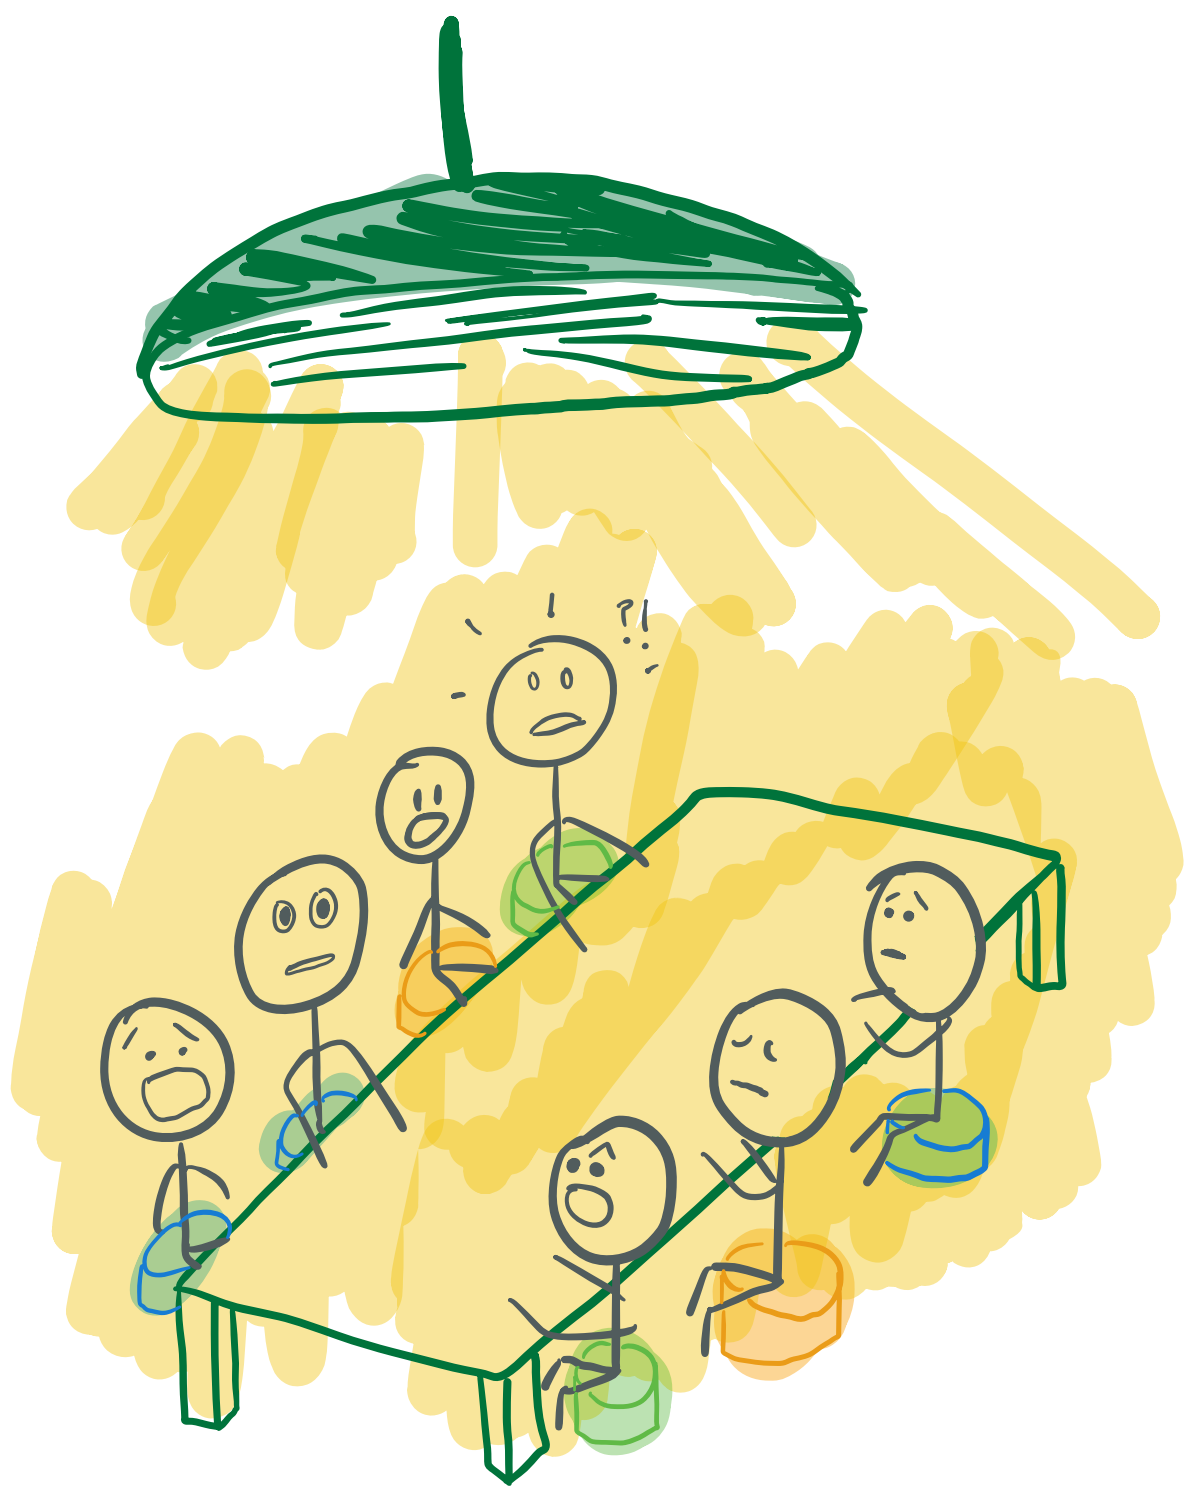

AaAaRgHhHh
I feel like such a
fraud.
I wished I was like
those older students...

2 years later:

LOL so juniors
still feel like
frauds, too.

How B's get portrayed in K-12:

Mr. B is
FOR BAD!!!

i WILL DESTROY YOU
AND YOUR FAMILY!!!!

AaaaaHHH!!

After going to college:

Great Work! 😊

Mr. B is for Blobby-boy.

that...
is
NOT
what
I was told
Mr. B
would LOOK LIKE.

why are
you working
so hard?

to get good
grades &
build my resume.

why do you
need a
buffed up
resume?

to get a good job.

Then
what?

well, I make $ to feed myself and my theoretical future spouse & family

Then I'll pay for my kids to have a good
education & reasonably
happy childhood.

So that they can get into good colleges

many internships & class units later...

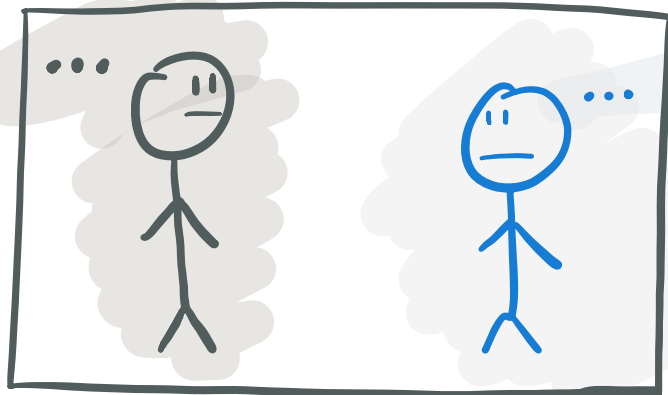

& buff up THEIR resumes,

And get stable jobs to provide for THEIR kids, aka my grandchildren.

somehow they gotta find a spouse & house along the way, too ...

more decades of existence...

Then after 65 years of my non-stop working, studying, & pining after the future, I'll finally rest & play mini-golf with my septuagenarian friends who are still around.

Am I the ONLY ONE who finds this COMPLETELY ABSURD?!

probably not. But
no one's got the
nerve to live any differently.

well why
not??

...

actually...
I don't know.

maybe we're meant for
more than just working & socializing til the day
we die.
